

ABOUT CSOSA

COMMUNITY ACCOUNTABILITY & JUSTICE

MISSION

The Court Services and Offender Supervision Agency is a federal agency with a distinctly local directive to supervise adults on probation, parole, and supervised release in the District of Columbia.

Effectively supervise adults under our jurisdiction to enhance public safety, reduce recidivism, support the fair administration of justice, and promote accountability, inclusion and success through the implementation of evidence-based practices in close collaboration with our criminal justice partners and the community.

REDUCE RECIDIVISM

Reduce recidivism by targeting criminogenic risk and needs using innovative and evidence-based strategies.

INTEGRATION

Integrate offenders into the community by connecting them with resources and interventions.

ACCOUNTABILITY

Strengthen and promote accountability by ensuring offender compliance and cultivating a culture of continuous measurement and improvement.

FAIR ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE

Support the fair administration of justice by providing timely and accurate information to criminal justice decision-makers.

Successful Completions

Not Successful

Successful

In FY2018, more than six out of every 10 supervision cases were completed successfully. Ninety percent (90%) of the unsuccessful cases ended in revocation.

Housing

Approximately 12% of our supervised population reside in unstable housing.

Individuals with unstable housing were nearly twice as likely to exit supervision unsuccessfully than those with stable housing.

Employment

Half of our employable supervised population is unemployed.

An "employable" person is someone who is not retired, disabled, suffering from a debilitating medical condition, or participating in a school or training program.

Behavioral Health

About 30% of those entering supervision in FY2018 were identified as having mental health needs.

Approximately 57% of individuals who were drug tested in FY2018 tested positive for an illicit drug at least once during the year.

Education

About 31% of those under CSOSA supervision have not earned a high school diploma or GED. Approximately 48% of supervisees have earned a high school diploma or GED. Around 17% have completed some post-secondary study.

All data is based on total supervised population as of September 30, 2018.
