The FOIA provides any person the right to request access to federal agency records or information. FOIA Requests

Introduction

The Agency ordinarily processes requests for records or information according to the FOIA. The FOIA applies to records or information either created or obtained by the Agency and under agency control at the time of the FOIA request. Not all records are required to be released under the FOIA.

The FOIA provides that any person has a right, enforceable in court, of access to federal agency records, except to the extent that such records (or portions thereof) are protected from disclosure. A record can be protected from disclosure by an exemption or a special law enforcement record exclusion. See FOIA Exemptions and Law Enforcement Exclusions for further information. The Agency will consider making a partial disclosure of records or information whenever it determines that full disclosure is not possible.

A requester can submit a request electronically or by mail. The request should clearly describe the records sought; see FOIA Frequently Asked Questions for further information.

The FOIA requires that, except in “unusual circumstances” as defined by the FOIA, initial agency decisions on whether to grant or deny access to records must be made within twenty (20) business days of receiving the request, and the requester is so notified.

Other Requests that can be submitted through FOIA

Introduction

Employees and former employees may request their personnel file and/or other documents concerning the requester that is not contained in the employee's personnel file but that are maintained in an Agency system of records.

Requests by current and former employees or their authorized representative can fall under both the Privacy Act and the FOIA. Depending on the information requested, these particular requests are processed according to the applicable provisions of the Privacy Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552a, and the FOIA, 5 U.S.C. § 552. Requests for records under the Privacy Act received by the FOIA Officer, are reviewed for compliance with agency procedures regarding notarization and to ensure that statutory compliance has been met.

Submitting a request

Requests may be submitted:

- Electronically at <https://www.foia.gov/>;
 - By e-mail at FOIA@csosa.gov; or

Processing FOIA Requests

Introduction

The FOIA Officer reviews all FOIA requests to ensure the request satisfies the FOIA requirements. Requests are processed within the time limits defined by the FOIA.

The FOIA Officer ensures that:

- Information gathered and retained by the Agency is disclosed where the information is subject to the FOIA and/or any other applicable law or policy setting forth public access to information; and
 - Information that is exempt from disclosure is protected by one of nine exemptions or by one of three special law enforcement record exclusions and protects information that is not authorized for discretionary disclosure.

Processing FOIA requests

The Office of General Counsel (OGC) staff processing requests for release of information under the FOIA are subject matter experts familiar with the provisions of 5 U.S.C. § 552, as follows:

- A requester must be notified of the decision on the request within twenty (20) business days of its receipt. This time limit may be extended up to an additional ten business (10) days if there are unusual circumstances.
 - Generally, all FOIA requests are processed in the approximate order of receipt, unless the requester demonstrates exceptional circumstances that justify an expedited response, see 28 CFR § 802.8. Examples that may justify an expedited response include:
 - A threat to life or safety;
 - The loss of substantial due process rights; or
 - In case of widespread and exceptional interest to the media, possible questions about the Agency's integrity which affect public confidence.

Denial

If OGC denies a request made according to the FOIA request in whole or in part, the FOIA Officer signs and issues a denial letter stating the basis for denial to the requester of his/her right to appeal the denial decision.

FOIA Fees

Introduction

There is no fee for making a FOIA request. However, depending on the complexity of the request or the volume of the requested records, the Agency may charge a fee for the time it takes to search for the records and to duplicate them. In many cases, FOIA requesters are not charged any fees by CSOSA. The FOIA, however, permits agencies to recover part of the cost incurred in complying with FOIA requests. The Agency will contact a requester to estimate the costs associated with any request for which a fee will be charged. A requester may ask to have fees waived.

Fee Schedule

- There is no initial fee to make a FOIA request, and in some cases, no fees are charged. However, under 28 CFR 802.10, the Agency is permitted to recover the costs associated with processing FOIA requests. For fee purposes, FOIA divides requesters into three categories:
 - 1) Commercial use requesters are charged for any search time, document review, and duplication;
 - 2) News media, educational, or scientific requesters are charged for duplication only, after the first 100 pages; or
 - 3) All other requesters are charged for search time (after two hours) and duplication (after 100 pages).
 - The requester may make a specific statement in their request limiting the fees they are willing to pay. If they do not state a particular fee limit, the FOIA office will assume that they are willing to pay all fees incurred while processing the request.
 - The Agency notifies the FOIA requester if:
 - The fees will exceed the limit as authorized by the requester; or
 - The estimated fees exceed $250.00
 - The requester may receive the opportunity to narrow the request to reduce the fees or be asked to confirm their commitment to pay the estimated amount.

Search Fee Schedule

- The reproduction fees are $0.25 per page. The current search and review fees is calculated by multiplying the number of quarter hours over two hours by the following rates for the staff conducting the search:
 - $7.00 per quarter hour for clerical staff;
 - $10.00 per quarter hour for professional staff; and
 - $14.00 per quarter hour for managerial personnel.
 - Only fees above $10.00 will be assessed. This means that the total cost must be greater than $10.00, either for the cost of the search (for time in excess of two hours), for the cost of duplication (for pages in excess of 100), or for both costs combined.

Fee Waivers

A waiver may be requested for FOIA processing fees. However, fee waivers are limited to situations in which a requester can show that disclosure of the requested information is in the public interest because it is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the government's operations and activities and is not primarily in the commercial interest of the requester.

Any FOIA requester may request that CSOSA waive all fees associated with the request. The request for the fee waiver must be submitted with the FOIA request.

The FOIA Office considers fee waiver requests on a case-by-case basis. CSOSA will make its fee waiver determinations based upon the information accompanying your FOIA request, addressing that you have demonstrated that disclosing the information:

- Is in the public interest because it is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government; and
 - Is not primarily in your commercial interest.

In deciding whether you have met the criteria above, CSOSA will consider the following factors:

1. The subject of the request must concern identifiable operations or activities of the Federal government, with a connection that is direct and clear, not remote or attenuated.
 2. The disclosable portions of the requested records must be meaningfully informative about government operations or activities to be "likely to contribute" to an increased public understanding of those operations or activities. Information that already is in the public domain, in either the same or a substantially identical form, would not contribute to such understanding.
 3. The disclosure must contribute to the understanding of a reasonably broad audience of persons interested in the subject, as opposed to your individual understanding. CSOSA will consider your expertise in the subject area as well as your ability and intention to convey information to the public effectively.
 4. The public's understanding of the subject must be enhanced to a significant extent by the disclosure.

Administrative Appeal and Judicial Review

Introduction

A requester who is dissatisfied with the response to the initial request has a statutory right to appeal an Agency's adverse initial determination by submitting an appeal letter in writing. The requester may also seek judicial review of the Agency's final decision in federal court. If a court determines that agency personnel have acted arbitrarily or capriciously in withholding records, disciplinary action against the employee primarily responsible may be warranted.

Requester Right to Appeal

A requester may appeal a determination in the case of:

- Any partial or total denial of access to records;
 - A fee waiver denial;
 - A determination of the category of the requester for fee purposes, that would determine the fees the requester would be required to pay;
 - A no-records response determination; or
 - A denial of a request for expedited processing.

Appeal Letter

- Appeals can be submitted electronically at FOIA@csosa.gov or by mail.
 - Appeals must be made within ninety (90) calendar days of the receipt of the letter with an adverse determination.
 - Submission by mail must be sent to:
 - The Office of the General Counsel, Court Services and Offender Supervision Agency for the District of Columbia; and
 - Both the envelope and the letter must be clearly marked "Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) Appeal."

Appeal Determination

- OGC makes an appeal determination within twenty (20) business days from the date of receipt of the appeal. This time limit may be extended up to an additional ten business (10) days, due to unusual circumstances.
 - If, after review, the General Counsel determines that additional information should be released, it is accompanied with the appeal response.

Administrative Appeal and Judicial Review, Continued

Judicial Review	According to 5 USC § 552(a)(4)(B) , FOIA decisions are generally reviewed under the “de novo” standard in court, see 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(B),— meaning the court will review the agency’s actions anew.
------------------------	--

Non-Agency Documents

Documents from other federal agencies

When a request for records includes a document that originated from another Federal agency:

- The FOIA officer forwards the request for release of the document to the originating federal agency to make the release determination;
- The requester is informed of the referral; and
- The referral decision is not a denial of an FOIA request; thus, no appeal rights attach.

If the requested information is for records created 25 years or more before the date of the request, CSOSA is permitted to release the information without referral and/or consultation with the other federal agency.

Documents from non- federal agencies

When a request for records includes a document that originated from a non-federal agency, the FOIA Officer instructs the requester to submit a separate FOIA request to the non-federal agency.

Directing a requester to submit a separate FOIA request to a non-federal agency is not a denial of an FOIA request; thus, no appeal rights attach.
