

FY2024 Supervision Data

The Court Services and Offender Supervision Agency (CSOSA) is a federal agency with the local mandate to supervise adults on probation, parole, and supervised release in the District of Columbia.

CSOSA's mission is to effectively supervise adults under our jurisdiction to enhance public safety, reduce recidivism, support the fair administration of justice, and promote accountability, inclusion, and success through the implementation of evidence-based practices in close collaboration with our criminal justice partners and the community.

Supervised Population

Over the course of fiscal year 2024, CSOSA supervised 10,911 unique individuals.

More than 6 (62%) of every 10 individuals leaving CSOSA supervision in 2024, completed it successfully.

The majority of our supervised population (86%) is male.

Most of the supervised population is between 26 and 35 years old (35%), followed by those aged 36 to 45 years (24%).

Community supervision is an alternative to incarceration through which justice-involved individuals serve all or part of their sentence in the community, rather than in a correctional facility.

Supervision Types

- Probation (77%)
- Supervised Release (18%)
- Parole (5%)

Probation percentage includes individuals who are subject to a Civil Protection Order or a Deferred Sentencing Agreement.

Risk Levels

- Intensive (20%)
- Maximum (28%)
- Medium (28%)
- Minimum (22%)
- Unavailable (4%)

Risk level data were unavailable for just over 4% of the supervised population. Figures rounded to nearest whole number.

Completions

- Successful (62%)
- Not Successful (30%)
- Other (8%)

Cases classified as "other" include cases that were closed administratively or due to the death of the person under supervision.

Stabilization Needs

CSOSA's approach to community supervision emphasizes assessment, intervention, and accountability to protect the public and provide the people we supervise with the services they need to improve their lives.

Just under 9% of our supervised population resides in unstable housing.

More than half (53%) of our employable supervised population is employed.

Approximately 6% of the total supervised population have mental health needs that require specialized supervision.

More than half (59%) of the people under our supervision have earned a high school diploma or GED.

Accountability

4,624

submitted in FY 2024

Alleged Violation Reports

A community supervision officer (CSO) submits an alleged violation report to the U.S. Parole Commission or DC Superior Court if a supervisee gets arrested while under supervision, violates the terms of their release, or both.

1,941

conducted in FY 2024

Accountability Tours

Accountability tours are visits to the homes of high-risk individuals conducted jointly by a CSO and a Metropolitan Police Department Officer in support of our public safety mandate.

28,313

conducted in FY 2024

Home Visits

During a home visit, a CSO views a supervisee's living quarters, interacts with other residents, determines how they are adjusting to their living situation, and assesses any potential challenges in the home or community that may affect supervision success.